Psychology

Psychologists give you the means to foster a good outlook and assist you in interacting with the community in a safe manner. Our psychologists can help you with:

Behaviour support

- Performing evaluations to better comprehend your behavioral concerns
- creating family support programs and other assistance plans

Assessment

- Making evaluations of your functional and cognitive abilities
- Performing evaluations to bolster the diagnosis of further mental illnesses or disabilities, such as depression, anxiety disorders, attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD), or autism spectrum disorders

Counselling

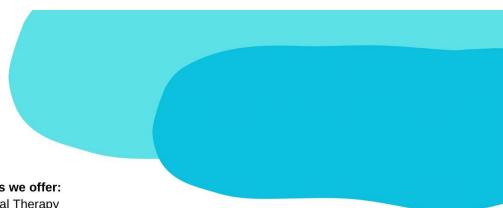

- Support for counseling that can be modified to meet your needs
- Dialectical behavior therapy, cognitive behavior therapy, and particular group programs are some possible approaches.

Training

- delivering instruction to help you and your support network acquire the necessary coping, emotional control, social and relationship skills, play and engagement, and parenting abilities
- Giving guidance on how to execute behavior support plans and other psychological plans to parents, caregivers, schools, respite services, and programs
